Special Regulations.

THE ATTENTION of students is specially directed to the important duty of home study. Since recitations in the various branches fill up almost all the school hours, it is very difficult to advance, and utterly impossible to accomplish the work laid out for each year, unless the student devotes at least three hours daily to class study at home. Parents are exhorted to insist on this indispensable duty, and to inform the faculty, should their sons neglect it.

Home study.

After home study the next duty which should claim the attention of students and the vigilance of parents is punctuality. Severe illness or absence from the city is, generally speaking, the only excuse admissible for staying away. Whenever parents keep their sons at home, on account of sickness or for any other good reason, they are requested to send a postal card to the Vice-President. Frequent absence so rapidly lowers a student's class standing, that the faculty prefer he should be withdrawn entirely.

Punctuality.

Owing, moreover, to the serious inconvenience resulting to professors and students from breaking in on class-hours by withdrawal before the end of the afternoon class, permission to leave College will not be given, unless for reasons deemed imperative by the Vice-President.

Attendance the whole day.

If parents do not insist on home study and punctual attendance, they need not be astonished if their sons remain a second year in the same class, or, perhaps, be refused re-admission.

Along with moral and mental training, the faculty lay great stress on the development of the manners of perfect gentlemen, and consider the rules of politeness a very important part of the course of studies. Whatever, therefore, is contrary to good breeding, is out of place in College. Consequently no boisterous conduct or rough play is tolerated on the premises, and silence is strictly enjoined in the class-rooms, and on the corridors or stairways leading thereto. Any ungentlemanly conduct among the students themselves, any disrespect or insubordination to a professor or officer of the College, shall be visited with severe punishment, and even with dismissal should the gravity of the offense require such a penalty.

For faults of ordinary occurrence, such as tardy arrival, failure in exercises or recitations, slight violations of rules; detention after class, or the task of writing or memorizing some lines from an author, is deemed a sufficient penalty.

Penalties.

For faults committed outside of the premises, the officers of the College are by no means responsible, as students cease, then, to be under their jurisdiction; still, should any serious charge be fairly substantiated, the guilty shall be punished according to the gravity of the offense.

Damages to the College property will be repaired at the expense of the offender.

The use of profane language or anything bordering on immorality, will subject the offender to immediate expulsion.

Monthly Marks.

Once a month the marks of all the students are read out in the classes. These marks are the record of daily lessons, exercises, conduct and monthly competitions. 100 is the maximum. A student receiving over 89, merits a testimonial of the first grade, one receiving from 80 to 89, merits one of the second grade.

Monthly Reports.

A report of these marks is given to every student, that it may be signed at home by his parents or guardian. As these reports indicate exactly the student's class standing, the College requests that they be very carefully examined, and afterwards returned to the Professor. No student is allowed to open his report.

Tardiness.

The College is open at 8 A. M.; class begins precisely at 9. A student arriving after the 9 o'clock bell has rung, must report at once to the Vice-President, and cannot enter class without a note from him.

Written excuses for lessons or exercises fall under the same rule as notes for absence; a student not prepared to recite is considered as morally absent, and is marked accordingly. Such excuses are to be handed to the Prefect of Studies, who will decide whether, in some special instance, they are to be admitted.

Written excuses for Lessons.

No student, unless for serious reasons, will be allowed to take his lunch outside the College limits. Parents are requested not to ask this permission if it can be possibly avoided.

Luncheon.

Thursday is the weekly holiday, but should an extraordinary holiday fall on Tuesday, Wednesday, or Friday, classes may be continued on Thursday, as usual.

Recreation.

Dress. All are expected to be clean and neat in person and apparel.

MENTAL PHILOSOPHY.

DIALECTICS.

Logic, its definition and division.

The nature of simple apprehension; ideas; phantasms; terms.

Judgment and Proposition, their definition and division.

Reasoning; the Syllogism, its laws.

Demonstration. Species of demonstrative arguments.

Sophisms.

On Method, Science, Definition and Division.

CRITICAL LOGIC.

A mere apprehension as such, cannot be false.

The theory of universal scepticism is absurd.

Descartes' Methodic Doubt is absurd,

Immediate analytical judgments can never be false.

Reasoning, when the subject matter is true and the form correct is an infallible motive of certainty.

The external senses, acting under proper conditions, cannot be deceived with regard to their proper objects of sensation.

The testimony of men, under proper conditions, can give perfect certainty.

The evidence of the objective truth is the ultimate criterion of certainty.

GENERAL METAPHYSICS.

The term "Being" does not express a genus of which the different classes of beings are the species.

The internal possibility of things does not depend formally on the power nor on the will of God.

The internal possibility of things depends formally on the intellect and fundamentally on the essence of God.

All action is directed to some end or purpose.

The principle of "Sufficient Reason" and that of "Causality" are absolutely certain.

COSMOLOGY.

Pantheism and Agnosticism are systems destructive of religion, morality and human society.

Neither the world, nor the matter of which it is composed can possibly be self-existent.

Matter cannot have originated but from creation.

The world is not absolutely but relatively perfect.

Miracles are possible to God and knowable to us.

There are in matter two substantial principles, viz: prime matter and substantial form; the former is the principle of extension, the latter that of specific action.

PSYCHOLOGY.

The brute soul is irrational and therefore ceases to exist when the organism is destroyed.

The human will is free, not only from coercion, but also from all necessary action.

The human soul is essentially simple.

The human soul is spiritual.

The human soul is immortal.

NATURAL THEOLOGY.

The existence of God can be demonstrated by metaphysical physical and moral arguments.

God is infinitely perfect.

God is absolutely simple.

There can be only one God.

God is absolutely immutable.

God is omniscient.

God is free in all His external acts.

Every event in this world is directed by God's Providence.

ETHICS.

God is the absolutely last end of all things.

Every man can attain perfect happiness which is God alone.

The natural law is eternal and unchangeable.

All men are bound to render to God interior and exterior worship.

Suicide is never allowed.

A lie is intrinsically evil and therefore never allowed.

Under certain circumstances, it is lawful to kill an unjust aggressor.

Duelling is contrary to the natural law, and therefore never allowed.

NATURAL PHILOSOPHY.

PHYSICS.

1. Equilibrium of liquids. Downward, upward and lateral pressure. Hydrostatic Press. Archimedes' principle. Specific gravity and its determination. Capillarity. Diffusion of liquids.

2. Properties of gases. The atmosphere and its pressure. Barometers. Mariotte's Law. Air-pump. Lifting and force pumps.

3. Nature and general effects of heat. Ordinary thermometers. Fusion and evaporation. Transmission of heat. Latent and specific heat. Steam and other heat engines.

4. Production, propagation and reflection of sound. Modes of vibration. Numerical evaluation of sound. Constitution of sounds.

5. Phenomena and laws of electrical action. Accumulation and condensation of electricity. Leyden jar. Plate, Wimshurst and Toepler-Holtz machines.

6. Natural and artificial magnets. Properties and laws of magnets. Terrestrial magnetism. Inclination and declination compasses.

7. Magneto-electric induction. Ruhmkorff's coil. The Dynamo. Morse's Telegraph.

CHEMISTRY.

1. Chemical and physical changes. Atoms and molecules. Elements and compounds. Acids, bases and salts.
2. The preparation and principal properties of H., O., N., and the elements of the hologen group.
3. Laws of definite and multiple proportions. Gravemetric and volumetric computations. Percentage composition.
4. Explain the manufacture of HCl, HNO_3, H_2SO_4 and state their uses.
5. Forms in which iron occurs in nature. Properties and varieties of iron. Steel. Metallurgy. The alkali metals and their principal compounds.

MECHANICS.

1. Motion and rest. Kinds of motion. Composition and resolution of uniform motions. Composition and resolution of accelerations. Composition of uniform and accelerated motions.
2. Mass. Density. Volume. Momentum. Newton's laws of motion. Measurement of forces.
3. Mechanical work and its measurement. Energy and its forms. Conservation and correlation of energy.
4. Centre of Gravity of bodies, plane and solid. Application of the principles of the centre of gravity. Equilibrium and stability.
5. Equilibrium of forces. Application to machines; levers, balance, wheel and axle, inclined plane.
6. Simple and compound pendulum. Laws of the pendulum. Compensation pendulum. Projectiles.

Annual Commencement,

THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 23. 1898, AT 8 O'CLOCK.

ARGUMENT.

COUNT ERIZZO, a Venetian senator, jealous of the popularity and power of the Doge Foscari, employs every treasonable means to ascend the throne. He engages Donato, the head of an old and powerful house. as solicitor to the Doge for the post of procurator, for his arch minion Celso. Either way works well; if he succeed. Erizzo's party gains a firmer foot in Venice; if he fail, Donato is won over to their cause. The post is asked and refused in terms ill-suited to the petulant disposition of the old senator. Erizzo and Celso. finding Donato in the right mood, dwell with peculiar acrimony on the scorn he had received, hint the increasing dotage of the Doge, the long and wasteless wars; Erizzo, moreover, insinuates the rising dislike of the old prince for Donato and his son Cosmo. These topics are reiterated in the senate, with circumstances of still greater aggression; the father's domestic tyranny, his son's military ambition and the curb that the aristocracy receives from the impartial justice of their prince. It is resolved that the Doge shall be deposed that very day. Donato has virtue enough to refuse the crown, though he consents to the deposition, in revenge for the refusal and rebuff. The arrival of Francesco Foscari gives a new turn to the scene. He reproaches the false-hearted senate, and singles out Donato as the especial object of his reproof; he brings tidings of victory and peace, won by his valor; he will deliver them to none but the Doge, seated in his wonted state, from whom he received his maiden sword and high commission. A decree of the Senate reinstates the Doge, but Donato forgets not that he has been rated again, and by a boy. Erizzo, baffled and spurned, profits by this; he employs Celso to murder Donato on a dark and stormy night, near the palace, with Foscari's sword, accidentally dropped at the entrance. Errizo casts the deed of horror on the guiltless young soldier. The evidence is so strong that Francesco is condemned, not, however, to death, but to perpetual banishment. This decision displeases the fatherless Cosmo; spurred on by Errizo he attacks Francesco; the latter falls, but Celso confesses his crime; Erizzo is lead to instant death, while Francesco dies, pardoning friends and foe, happy that Venice recognizes his innocence.
